CIO Convention Approves Merger with AFL

Clears Way for Formal Action Monday At Joint Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—The CIO's 17th constitutional convention today approved almost unanimously the merger of its five million members with the AFL, setting up the most powerful labor group in the nation's history.

One of the few dissenting votes came from Michael J. Quill, head of the CIO Transport Workers' Union. In an impassioned 15-minute address to the convention, he charged that the merger provided no safeguards against the three R's of unionism—racism, raiding and racketeering.

The convention's action cleared the way for the formal merging of the two groups Monday at their first joint meeting here. It will bring together under one man, George Meany, now president of the AFL, a labor group of almost 16 million members.

AFL Ousts Pilots

The AFL, meeting only three blocks away from Manhattan Center, site of the CIO convention, approved the merger agreements Thursday. It was busy today concluding its two-day convention by approving a number of resolutions, chief of which was one ousting the Airline Pilots Assn. from membership.

The AFL had charged the pilots with "strike breaking activities" in a walk-out by the AFL Engineers Union against United Air Lines.

The convention voted to oust the 8,800-member pilots union if its dispute with the Association of Flight Engineers was not settled by Dec. 12. The action was taken by voice vote without debate.

Quill's dramatic plea against the merger got a scattering of applause from the 663 CIO delegates, but they gave much acclaim to speeches by CIO President Walter Reuther and other members of the CIO executive board who flocked to the platform to dispute the fiery Irish leader of the transport workers.

Told to Disregard Charge

In addition to Quill, representatives of industrial unions from Springfield, Ill., and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., voted against labor unity. Their opposition came during a voice vote on the unity resolution. But they gave no reasons.

Reuther told the 650 CIO delegates to disregard Quill's charges that the merger would be nothing more than a move to give labor power in this country to the AFL and Meany.

Toll Road Bond Issue Ruled Valid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court today ruled the proposed $45 million-dollar bond issue to finance the three-pronged northwestern toll roads system is valid.

The high court said the only question to be decided was whether the proposed construction could be financed by a single bond issue or three separate series of bonds.

The court noted that the 1955 legislature failed to pass an amendment which would have "made clear its intention that a separate series of bonds should be issued for each highway."

The legislative action relied on, however, is equally consistent with the views of the General Assembly considered that the existing statute made its intentions sufficiently clear that an amendment was unnecessary.

The court's decision means the Illinois Toll Highway Commission can make delivery of the bond issue by Dec. 20, the new deadline set by the 563 investment bankers selling the bonds.

CHRISTMAS FOR TOTA—Christmas gifts for a little first grade girl in Greece, Tota Economopoulou, line the wall of Mrs. Ruth Peak's first grade room at McKinley school. The children themselves decided they wanted to send the gifts to the little cousin of John Poulos, a first grade pupil, and the response to the idea was terrific. The gifts were to be packed into three boxes and mailed this week.

First Grade Children at McKinley to Provide Merry Christmas for Greek Girl

It will be a merry, merry Christmas for little Tota Economopoulou, all because John Poulos of this city brought back some candy from Greece for the children in the first grade room where his grandson, John, is a pupil.

Little John, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Poulos of this city, took the candy made in Greece to school with him one day this fall and there was enough for everybody in his room at McKinley school to have a bite.

The other pupils became interested when John told them of his grandfather's trip to Greece this summer, and were sorry when he told of how destitute the people were in that country.

Spontaneous Response

He told them of his second cousin, Tota, also a first grader, and that she did not have clothing like the little boys and girls of this country.

There was a spontaneous response among the six-year-olds to do something for Tota, and the pupils themselves decided to send her a Christmas box full of things that first graders like. They were to collect what they could and bring them to school.

So the day before Thanksgiving each pupil took home a note to the parents, telling of the project. And when classes resumed on the following Monday a stream of gifts began to pour into the room. There were dresses, blouses, soap, candy, books, balls, gyo ribbons, shoes, a raincoat, sweaters, toys, toothpaste and brushes, pencils and paper, crayons, hats, socks, peanuts and balloons.

To Pray for Safe Delivery

They were all placed on one side of the room where there were Christmas decorations on the wall. And there was a card which explained: "Christmas for Tota."

Today the packing began and instead of one box there will be three.

Mrs. Ruth Peak, the teacher, explained to the children yesterday that there was a possibility that the gifts might not reach the little girl, so far was the journey to the little town out in the country.

But one pupil, Jimmy Slightom, said he could take care of that. "We can pray over the boxes," he said. "Then they'll get there all right."

Jimmy volunteered to do the praying. Today he was to offer a prayer of safe delivery of the Christmas presents to Tota.

Saline County Tax Multiple 5.2632

The Saline county tax multiple for this year is 5.2632, lower than the one for last year, County Clerk Don B. Garrison declared today.

Tax multiples are given all counties by the State Department of Revenue. The tax assessments as turned in by the assessors are multiplied by these multiples to arrive at what is called the full 100 per cent assessment of property.

Last year the multiple was 5.5556. The new multiple will be used on assessments made the past spring for taxes that are due in 1956.

Rev. C. W. Maulding, Well Known Baptist Minister, Dies

Rev. Cyrus W. Maulding, 73, died at his home in Mt. Vernon this morning at 8:30. He was a well known Baptist minister in this area and was frequently on the Baptist Hour over WEBQ.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at Pleasant Hill Baptist church on Route 37 between Mt. Vernon and Dix. The body will lie in state at the church one hour prior to the funeral. Rev. Ross Partridge, church pastor, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Bird Green and Dr. J. E. Dixon of Mt. Vernon. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Alma; one son, Harry; two brothers, Rev. John B. Maulding, McLeansboro, and William Maulding, Battle Creek, Mich.; and two sisters, Mrs. Nannie Goin, Evansville, Ind., and Mrs. Emily Hamilton, Delafield, Ill.

Curtice Defends GM Practices at Senate Hearing

President Says Firm's Success Due To Management

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harlow H. Curtice denied today that the General Motors Corp. has resorted to unfair or questionable business practices to become the world's largest industrial concern.

The president of General Motors told Senate investigators that the giant auto firm's success is due largely to superior management making the most of the nation's tremendous economic growth in the past 35 years.

"I know of no management organization that has a higher standard of business ethics, a greater sense of public responsibility or a more genuine regard for the equities of the various groups with which we have contact—customers, employees, suppliers, dealers and shareholders," Curtice said in a 97-page statement prepared for presentation to the Senate monopoly subcommittee.

Previous to his testimony, Curtice heard himself denounced by one of his own auto dealers as an "arrogant, selfish dictator."

The charges were contained in a letter from M. H. Yager, Albany, N. Y., Pontiac dealer, who sat across a table from Curtice at the hearing while the letter was being read.

For the past four weeks, the subcommittee has been making a "case study" of General Motors to determine its effect on the nation's economy.

Most of the previous testimony has been unfavorable to General Motors. Numerous witnesses have charged the giant concern used unfair or questionable practices to dominate allied fields, as well as the auto industry.

A parade of disgruntled dealers Wednesday and Thursday charged that General Motors had tossed them aside because they didn't sell enough cars to satisfy Curtice and other top GM officials.

Some testified that Curtice personally turned them down when they appealed to him in Detroit.

One such dealer, Lee C. Anderson of Lake Orion, Mich., testified that Curtice called him "a Red" because of his vigorous opposition to a GM policy of selling autos at cost price to foremen and some other factory employees.

Some testified that they were pressured into registering Chevrolet as having been sold even before they reached the dealer—to make the GM car look better in its sales race with Ford.

Curtice couched his defense of GM practices in general terms and didn't reply directly to specific charges made by previous witnesses. But subcommittee members and its staff indicated they later would question him closely.

Annual Elks Memorial Service Sunday at Presbyterian Church

All Elks are asked to attend the annual Elks Memorial Service of Harrisburg Lodge 1058, B. P. O. E., to be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the First Presbyterian church of Harrisburg.

Speaker will be Dr. Nick H. Feder, Grand trustee of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

"The Elks Memorial Service is a hallowed annual event in which all Elks pay their respect to the memory of their departed brothers," exalted ruler Charles Skaggs observed, "and the officers and members of Harrisburg lodge want to extend this invitation to everyone to attend this solemn and beautiful service."

Elks lodges of the country honor their departed brothers at services held the first Sunday in December.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ray Williams, West Frankfort, and Mrs. Jessie Miller, Villa Ridge, Ill., and one son, Ray Summers, Johnston City.

White House Conference Urges Federal Aid for Schools in Formal Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House conference on education today declared, but the problem is whether it will spend enough.

Specifically the conference recommended: Federal aid for building public schools. It opposed aid for private or parochial schools. Delegates split about evenly on whether federal aid should be provided for school operating expenses.

More state aid, especially for poorer school districts.

Fund Raising Difficult

Easing of legal tax and bonding restrictions which prevent states and local communities from raising enough money for good schools.

More pay for school teachers and better fringe benefits for them.

Consolidation of poor and inefficient school districts.

The conference recommended—and Folsom agreed—that federal aid should bring no federal control over the schools, should be based on need, and should not decrease state and local funds for schools.

Federal aid backers immediately interpreted the conference's position as providing powerful support for pushing legislation through Congress next year.

Federal aid was the most controversial issue before the conference in its discussion of how to meet a current shortage of 203,450 classrooms and 141,000 qualified teachers and other school problems.

The delegates' answer made it clear that the states and local communities, too, must do more for the schools.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two high officials in the Truman administration denied today that they were guilty of bribery and perjury as charged in an indictment linking them with a conspiracy to defraud the government in a criminal tax case.

The two officials indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury here were Matthew J. Connelly, confidential secretary to President Truman from 1945 to 1953, and Theron Lamar Caudle, who resigned as assistant attorney general in charge of the tax division in 1951 at Mr. Truman's request.

Harry I. Schwimmer, a Kansas City attorney, also was indicted.

Connelly, who was charged with receiving $1,600 from Schwimmer in 1952 for his role in influencing a tax case, blamed the indictment on "a little group of willful men now in power in Washington."

He said the group "have called Harry S. Truman a traitor and now, because of my association with him, they are calling me a crook."

Charges "Scapegoat"

"I defy that group of willful men or anybody else to produce one shred of evidence that I have committed any offense against good morals or ethics or that I have violated any law of the United States," Connelly said in New York where he is a public relations counselor.

Caudle, who practices law in Wadesboro, N. C., charged that the Republicans "have held me over as a scapegoat and public sacrifice again for the coming national election." He said he will demand a "wide open" congressional investigation of why he was indicted four years after the charges of "gross indiscretion" that forced him from government service were aired.

Tilman Summers, 91, former resident of Thompsonville, died early this morning at Anna. The body has been returned to the Courtney funeral home in Galatia.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 1 p. m. at the Pleasant Hill church north of Thompsonville. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ray Williams, West Frankfort, and Mrs. Jessie Miller, Villa Ridge, Ill., and one son, Ray Summers, Johnston City.

WRECKED AUTO of J. M. Holderby, Ridgway automobile dealer, who was killed when his car overturned on Route 13 eight miles west of Marion Wednesday. Mr. Holderby's body was found nearly 50 feet from the car.

Hold Soviets Responsible for Eastern Sector

Ambassador Makes Statement in Divided City

BERLIN (AP)—U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant said today the United States will stay in Berlin and hold the Russians responsible for their sector of the city despite East German defiance of occupation regulations.

Conant told a news conference in the divided city that the United States will "continue to hold the Soviets responsible for the proper treatment of U. S. nationals."

He said he traveled to Berlin from Bonn Thursday "to give visible proof of the continuing interest of the United States government in the welfare of this brave and important city."

The ambassador said his presence in Berlin "further underlines" United States determination to remain in the city, a stand which was set forth in a stiff note Conant presented to Soviet Ambassador G. M. Pushkin Thursday.

Denies East German Claims

The note, similar in tone to notes presented by Britain and France, reaffirmed four-power occupation of the entire city. It denied East German claims to control of the city by virtue of their "sovereignty" by insisting that Russia still is responsible for control of the eastern sector.

Conant referred to the East Germans' regime which the West does not recognize, as the "so-called German democratic republic."

"We insist we have the right of free circulation in Berlin," he said.

"We shall continue to exercise these rights according to four-power agreements, and if new incidents, which I do not expect, happen, we will protest again."

West Berliners feared a repetition of the 1948 Communist blockade of the city, designed to squeeze out the Western powers, which was broken only by a massive airlift of supplies.

American officials in Washington doubted that the Russians and East Germans will throw any outright physical challenge to the West, although all threatening possibilities are under constant study.

68 Traffic Deaths S-D Day

By United Press

Safety experts expressed keen disappointment today because the nation apparently failed to heed the S-D Day campaign.

A United Press count listed 68 persons killed in traffic during the 24-hour period which ended at midnight Thursday.

Two weeks ago, when a sample count was taken on an ordinary Thursday, 69 persons were killed.

Adm. H. B. Miller, director of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety, termed the results "disappointing." He said in a prepared statement:

"Disappointing as the S-D Day toll was, we must not lose sight of the fact that 10 days still remain for the 21-day period that constitutes the S-D Day campaign."

"It is our hope that the impact of S-D Day on the public will be reflected in the 21-day toll when the three-week period ends Dec. 11."

"Arrangements have been made to compile the 21-day traffic death toll and we expect to have it in final form by Dec. 16. A comparison of these figures with those for the comparable 21-day period last year will give a complete picture of the S-D Day campaign."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity. — 1st Cor.
13:13.

There are probably more people who lack charity, than there are who lack any other virtue. We are charitable toward our own errors, but unwilling to make excuses for the shortcomings of others. We see the mote in the other fellow's eye but do not note our own blindness to our own faults.

Burned Once Too Often

Two of the nation's top public opinion poll takers indicate now that they probably won't try to do any serious forecasting of results in next year's presidential sweepstakes. They have sharp memories.

In 1948 everybody got burned
when former President Truman knocked off Governor Dewey.
Four years later, caution naturely was the rule, and nobody forecast President Eisenhower's big sweep.

If Mr. Eisenhower should decide to run again, the pollsters might be heartened to get into the fray on a bigger scale. They figure he'd give them some margin.
But if he takes himself out, and another close race looms, they'll concentrate on measuring more predictable things—like who's liable to buy a TV set in 1957.
The fact is the poll takers haven't yet found a satisfactory formula for forecasting elections accurately—and they know it.

Cotton Crop

The best laid plans of men and governments can go awry. This nation has been overproducing cotton for a good while, and the Agriculture Department has been trying to get producers to cut down.
Secretary of Agriculture Benson called for a 1955 output of 10 million bales. Acreage controls were instituted with this goal in mind.
The controls were the principal lever.

But now the department says 1955 cotton output may come to 14,843,000 bales, nearly 50 per cent
more than Benson's objective.

Yields have climbed to record heights. The 10-year average is 357 pounds per acre, but for 1955 the figure will be 431 pounds — only 60 pounds less than a bale an acre. In some sections production has hit a two-bale-an-acre level.

Nature has intervened this year
to account for some of this amazing output. Favorable weather and growth factors have marked
most of the cotton season.

But there is more. As acreage allotments are cut, the growers retire their poorer lands and heap fertilizer and pest-and-weed controls on good soils to increase production per acre by leaps and bounds.

Benson will try again in 1956,
with perhaps another four per cent cut in acreage. But anyone would be foolish to bet we won't wind up with a still higher yield next season. There must be some other way.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Sherman Adams Will Dump
Dr. Scheele; Ike Dashes Tax Cut Hopes; Justice Department Studies Franking Abuse.

WASHINGTON. — It isn't supposed to be known outside the White House, but assistant president Sherman Adams has decided to ditch the embattled surgeon-general and scapegoat of the Salk
snafu, Dr. Leonard Scheele.

Adams already has Scheele's successor in mind—Dr. Jack Ma-sur, chief of public health's medical services.

Dr. Scheele became a front-page
the Salk anti-polio vaccine. Oveta Culp Hobby, then secretary of health, education and welfare,
tried to pin the blame on Scheele
for the bad batches of vaccine
that hit the public.

While the public health service was responsible for testing the vaccine, the fact is that Scheele had urged Mrs. Hobby to begin preparing months before. At the last minute she was responsible for rushing the Salk vaccine to the public and actually got sore
when newspapers and photographers were not able to take pictures of her on schedule because Scheele urged more time.

Before the controversy died down, however, Scheele's name was dragged through the headlines, and now he'll be dropped as public health chief when his term expires in March.

Meanwhile, Scheele has got wind that he may lose his job, and is doing his best to ingratiate himself with the Republicans. For the attended a ceremony in Kansas City to watch some subordinates receive the annual Lasker Foundation awards for outstanding medical service.

Ex-President Truman was invited by the foundation to make a non-political speech and Scheele was so nervous about appearing on the same platform with Truman that he ducked out of the ceremony before his subordinates were honored.

If this was supposed to make him a hero to the new secretary
of health, education and welfare, it backfired. Secretary Marion Polsom, when he heard about Scheele's hasty exit, was not pleased.

NO TAX CUTS
If you're trying to figure out your tax cuts for the end of this year and are wondering whether taxes will be lower next year, you can write it down as almost certain that there will be no change.
Congress is sure to talk a lot and perhaps vote for a tax cut, but President Eisenhower has given a very private but definite assurance to Secretary of the Treasury Mumfery that there will be no tax cut. In brief, Ike has promised to veto any tax reduction voted by Congress.

Humphrey's great ambition is to get the budget balanced, and he expects to pull the Treasury out of the red by June 30. Only after this happens will Humphrey consider cutting personal income taxes
which will come ahead of corporate or excise tax reductions.

FRANKING ABUSE
Protagonists for school segregation who are mailing out speeches by Senator Eastland of Mississippi may get in more trouble with the Justice Department.

It's against the law for someone else to use a congressman's frank,
and he has no power to transfer
it. Justice Department officials are looking over 39 U. S. Code, Sec. 335, and 18 U. S. Code, Sec.
1718, which state that a senator cannot "lend said frank or permit its use by any committee, or organization, or association, or person, or any person for the benefit or use of any committee, or organization, or association."

Sec. 1718 further provides a fine of $300 for "anyone who uses said frank without authorization."
Various groups in Maryland, Virginia, and other states have been harrowing envelopes from Senator Eastland's office, stuffing the franked envelopes with copies of his speech attacking the Supreme Court, and mailing them out wholesale.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST
In Washington, as among magicians, you frequently have to look behind the scenes to see what's going on.

Recently, Senator Bricker of Ohio, voted one of the handsomest

men in the Senate but also tabbed
by the press gallery as the 90th senator—lowest on the list when it comes to ability—wrote a letter opposing the investigation by Senator Sparkman's Small Business committee into the trucking industry and railroad competition.

Bricker proposed that his own
Senate Interstate Commerce committee investigate this matter instead. Bricker claimed that only the Interstate Commerce committee, of which he is ranking Republican member, has the authority to probe the controversial question of trucks, railroads, and discrimination against small trucks.

Other senators who got Senator Bricker's squawk, however, paid
scant attention.

They knew, though they didn't say so publicly, that Bricker's law firm in Columbus, Ohio, is paid an annual fee of between $30,000
and $40,000 by the Pennsylvania railroad. They also knew that this came to Bricker's law office only after the senator became a member of the powerful Interstate Commerce committee where he could exercise a friendly vote
for or against the railroads.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
Postmaster General Sumner-
field of Michigan, the big Chevrolet dealer, brought pressure to get Tom McIntyre fired from the staff of Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan. General Motors partisans accused McIntyre of being on Ford's payroll. Untrue.

Senate Republican leader Bill Knowland has told friends he definitely will try for the GOP presidential nomination if Ike drops out. He'll fight the hard way for the nomination in the state primaries.

Under pressure from the big airlines, the White House plans to drop Josh Lee from the Civil Aeronautics Board when his term expires December 31. He made the mistake of befriending the little airlines. Meanwhile several senators, who must approve CAB members, have decided to befriend him. Congressman Sam Friedel, Maryland Democrat, will ask Congress to create a new cabinet post—secretary of traffic. The idea was first suggested to President Eisenhower by Charles Adler, Jr., inventor of highway safety devices, who argued that automobiles have cost more American lives than wars. He pleaded that the problem was serious enough to demand a national traffic czar with power to standardize and enforce safety measures.

More than half the servicemen confined in the Bethesda Naval hospital,
for example, are traffic victims.
White House advisers agree that crowded, dangerous highways may be an important issue in the 1956 campaign. If they don't go along with the idea of a federal traffic department, they at least intend to push the President's road-building program.

Methodist Dorcas Class Elects Officers At Regular Meeting Held Recently

The Dorcas Sunday school class of the First Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Clara Edwards Monday evening with 20 members and guest present. Mrs. Lois Blass served as assistant hostess.

The business session was opened with the group singing the theme song "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Juanita Campbell gave the devotion using the scriptures
in 1 Corinthians, third chapter.

The lesson on "Other Methodists" was given by Alice Wallace.
This included reports on a study of notable people who are helping to promote the Methodist church.
Very interesting facts were brought before the class on the work of Madame Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa and China; Jeff Onuska, Nigeria, Africa, who is a medical student in the Methodist college in Tennessee, and Dr. Christopher P.
Keim, a scientist, who is head of the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

An election of officers was held with the following results: Ava Gee, president; Juanita Rodocker, vice president; Marge Davis, secretary and reporter; Blossom Stal-
ion, treasurer.

Following the business session
Betty Motsinger and Muriel Thomas had charge of the recreation.
Game prizes were awarded to Juanita Rodocker, Gertie Russell, Essie Motsinger and Muriel Thomas was the winner of the door prize.

Refreshments were served to the following: Juanita Rodocker, Sevea Rodocker, Marie Davis, Edna Martin, Alice Wallace, Marge Black, Betty Motsinger, Pauline Thornton,
Wanda Fort, Frieda Moake, Ava
Gee, Juanita Schwartz, Juanita
Campbell, Muriel Thomas, Gertie
Russell, class teacher, hostesses,
Mrs. Clara Edwards and Mrs. Blass.

Visitors were Mrs. Marie F. Harris, Mrs. Essie Motsinger, Mrs. Ada Holloway.

The next meeting will be Dec.
19 at the home of Ava Gee which will be a Christmas party. All members are requested to bring a 50 cent gift for exchange.

Mrs. Blanche Whitney Installed as Worthy Matron
Of Makanda Eastern Star

Mrs. Blanche Whitney, who operated the Giant City park for five years, was installed as worthy matron of the Makanda Order of Eastern Star recently in an impressive ceremony.

As her sons gathered around her
at the altar the congregation sang "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." The colors, blue and gold, were carried out in the decoration.

Mrs. Hattie Heam was installing officer and Mrs. Grace Row, marshal, and Mrs. Ann Crow, chaplain.

Mrs. Whitney's brothers, Jack and Armond Lewis, and sister of Anna, were present, also her sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.
Leon Whitney, Anna, Mr. and Mrs.
Robert Whitney, Carrier Mills, Sam
Whitney, Lincoln, also Mrs. Clara Campbell.

Leon Whitney served as color bearer.

Mrs. Whitney received several flowers and nice gifts from friends and relatives. The ceremony closed with the song "May God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Mrs. Adah Spurgeon Hostess To Illiana Club
Mrs. Adah Spurgeon was hostess to the Illiana club Monday.

During the business session plans were made for the Christmas party to be held Tuesday night, Dec. 13, at the home of Eula Berns. A committee was appointed to fix Christmas baskets for needy families.

Games were enjoyed and prizes
won by Sevea Rodocker, Lois Edds, Gwen Wilson, Opal McAttee, Elizabeth Blake, June Ricketts, Jean Brewer and Juanita Rodocker.

OUR MEN IN SERVICE

Pfc. Stephen D. Golden, son of Mrs. Frances Golden, 28 West Virginia, is home on leave from Camp Pendleton, Calif., Marine base. His leave followed graduation from communications school. He will report back to Camp Pendleton on Dec. 18 from where he will leave for the Far East in January.

M-Sgt. Marion E. Graham, son of Derice Graham, RFD 1, Galatia, is scheduled to return to the U. S. in December from France, where he served with the 52nd Engineer company. Graham, first sergeant in the company, entered the Army in 1941. He arrived in Europe in December 1952. Graham's wife, Vola, lives in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada.

A North Central States farm survey showed that the farm home
is years behind other developments on the farm and often is inconvenient and uncomfortable.

There's Summer Driving in Every Drop

STANDARD
(WINTER GRADE)
PREMIUM GASOLINE
WITH DE-ICER

Imagine, getting lively summer performance from your car in the dead of winter!

You can—with STANDARD WHITE CROWN Premium Gasoline. We build summer driving into every drop. An amazing De-Icer additive prevents gas-line freeze. Light, volatile elements make cold engines start fast as a flash—other elements assure quick warm-ups. Add the highest octane rating in our history, and you have STANDARD Premium—the gasoline for smooth, knock-free performance. So drive in for a tankful of STANDARD Premium Gasoline. It has everything it takes to be "TOPS" for summer driving all winter long.

Super PERMALUBE
Motor Oil Saves Gas

Wherever you live or drive... whatever the climate... you get perfect performance and engine protection plus greater oil economy with Super PERMALUBE. This remarkable multi-grade oil helps cold engines start quickly and resists thinning when engines are hot. Reduces friction drag to save up to 2 gallons of gas in a tankful.
Drive in for a change to Super PERMALUBE today.

You expect more from STANDARD and get it!

Shoe Strike To End Monday

ST. LOUIS 1P.—The largest strike in the history of the shoe industry will end the 25-day-old strike by agreeing to accept recommendations of a 14-man negotiating committee which call for a two-year union shop contract with a 5 per cent pay increase retro active to Oct. 3. The union shop clause will not be effective in states where it is illegal.

The terms also call for an additional 3 per cent boost effective next April 2.

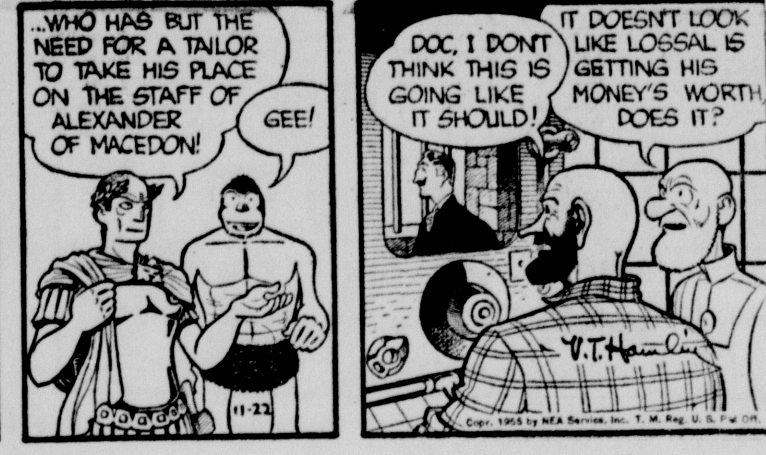

The 17,000 employees of International, the world's largest shoe manufacturer, and the 9,000 workers of Brown, world's second largest, must ratify the pact. Union leaders said they were "positive" the 49 locals of the two unions would accept the terms.

Seeks $1,200 Auto Damages in Complaint

Kenneth Irvin, through his attorney, Charles R. Jelliffe of Harrisburg, seeks $1,200 auto damages from Gus Brown, Frank Pilkington and Josie McDaniel as a result of a collision on Route 45 near Eldorado on Sept. 12.

The complaint, filed in circuit court, says that Irvin's car, driven by Thomas Ladley, figured in a collision and that a truck owned by Brown was driven by Pilkington and an auto driven by Mrs. McDaniel were involved.

Murder in Haiti

Dr. Lund was smiling a distant smile. "Your logic, Mr. Lynch, is persuasive. It is true. I could have."

"Quite. Thank you for that admission, Mr. Dibble?"

Reg's handsome mouth twitched uneasily. "My turn?"

"You, Mr. Dibble, in one particular, closely resemble Mr. Sand. You love money. You will do almost anything to get it."

"Almost?"

"In the crucial hours this morning you had a unique advantage. You knew with fairly close approximation where the chests were hidden. You possess a revolver which I can attest was in excellent working order. Your respect for the somewhat absurd carnival of human life is severely limited. For your victim you had none at all."

"Quite!" said Dibble.

Lynch was momentarily disconcerted. "Er, yes."

Lily Wyndam was sitting next to me. I heard her say under her breath "Hey, what about me?"

"Mr. Souhani!" Lynch snapped. "What is your role in this?"

The everlastingly smiling dark man in the dark plain suit did not vary his expression.

"I am—I was—an old friend of Herr Braun's," Souhani said levelly. "Or maybe I should have said, an associate. We have worked closely together at home. It was our purpose to work together in the future. I came with him to give whatever assistance I could render."

"You are not a German?"

Souhani hesitated a fraction of a second, then saw he couldn't get away with it.

"No," he conceded.

"But," Lynch persisted, "you are of the same political persuasion?"

Souhani gravely nodded a single nod.

"You agree then," he said rapidly, "with the generally prevailing opinion that the late Josef Stalin was a butcher and a tyrant?"

Souhani's well-disciplined face lost its habitual control. His eyes flickered. His lips parted to speak but no words came.

"Thank you!" said Lynch. "Manfred Braun, as we will call him, has been living in the Eastern Zone. We know that, for we have his papers. You, Mr. Souhani, are a Soviet official. Though not a Russian. It was never your plan that the gold hoard was to be used for its originally intended purpose. I suspect that Meer's 'Fuehrer,' in exchange for so handsome a payment, would be given appropriate powers and honors under the Communist regime."

"What?" Meer was shouting again.

"Be quiet," Lynch ordered. "As a servant of the Cominform, however, Mr. Souhani, you had no intention of carrying out that promise. After your two gullible Germans had led you to the chests you had no further use for them. You put the more troublesome of the two out of your way last night."

"You would have to prove that, Mr. Lynch," Souhani said steadily.

"I believe, though, Mr. Souhani, that you were confronted with a difficulty. This voyage originated in Bremen, in the British Zone of the German Federal Republic. It was Mr. Sand's intention to return to the same port. Neither the Occupation authorities nor the Bonn government are so lax that it would be possible to transport two tons of gold safely behind the Iron Curtain. It was incumbent on you to make some other arrangement. Captain Carey!"

Overcome Fears by Scriptural Weapons, Jehovah Witnesses Told

"Fear, which has grown to such alarming proportions, is one of a series of signs marking these the last days," said Mr. R. L. Anderson to a group of 719 persons in attendance at the main event of a three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses held at the Junior high school auditorium in Metropolis, Sunday, Nov. 27 at 3 p. m.

Mr. Anderson is a representative of the Watchtower Bible & Tract society. He spoke on the subject, "Overcoming the Fears of This Generation." He assured his audience that the fears of this generation can be overcome through the use of Scriptural weapons. He outlined some of these effective weapons to overcome present fears as being knowledge, love and faith.

Other speakers of the three-day assembly revealed that in the 19 congregations represented in Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, Circuit No. 7, there are 831 active ministers of the New World Society regularly carrying ministerial and Bible educational activity. They conduct 321 home Bible studies as well as 107 congregational meetings each week.

The convention ended with the chairman, Mr. N. A. Reinicke, encouraging the ministers to improve their mental vision by continuing to study the Bible and applying that learning to preaching the good news of Christ's Kingdom, the new world of righteousness.

Grand Champ Steer Wins Reprieve from Slaughter House

CHICAGO — Julius, the highest-priced hunk of beef on the hoof in the country, won a reprieve from the slaughter house today.

It made a 16-year-old Campaign, Ill., farm girl very happy.

Freckle-faced Nancy Turner learned of Julius' reprieve after her International Livestock Exposition grand champion steer had been sold at auction Thursday for $16,125.

The steer's new owner, Milton, Mass., restaurateur Howard Johnson, said he plans to send Julius on an exhibition tour of about seven leading agricultural colleges.

The jet black steer's first stop will be the University of Illinois farm, only five miles from Nancy's farm home. She planned to visit her prize-winner as often as possible.

Two Kinds of Weather in Most of Nation: Rain, Snow

By United Press

Forecasters gave most of the nation a choice of two kinds of weather today—rain or snow.

The snow was expected to cover the country from the central and northern Rockies to the northern Midwest. Elsewhere, the forecast was rain from the lower Mississippi Valley into the Ohio Valley and from the Southeast into the Mid-Atlantic states.

At Washington, D. C. the U. S. Weather Bureau issued a special warning of "hazardous" snow, rain and sleet from the Eastern Seaboard to the lower Great Lakes.

The forecasters predicted freezing rain for the lower lakes region and the southern and central Appalachian Mountain area. Snow and sleet had already spread northward into Pennsylvania and western New York, the warning said.

The forecasts were a sequel to a night of rainy, snowy weather in much of the nation.

Up to three inches of snow fell on the Midwest and up to 2.42 inches of rain soaked Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi. In the west, fog was so thick near Ogden, Utah, that a search for a C45 Air Force transport missing with two men aboard was suspended.

Confident Player Pays Own Way From Africa to Try Out with Phillies

By AL CARTWRIGHT
NEA Special Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — The best baseball player in all of South Rhodesia wants a tryout with the Phillies.

He's willing to pay his own way from Africa.

Here's a stranger on another continent, 6,786 nautical miles away, who wants a crack at organized baseball and for some miraculous reason, picks the Phillies. Remind us to put this in our next novel.

It is the popular belief that South Rhodesians do nothing more athletic than enjoy open season on elephants and sit around waiting for the next Clark Gable movie location. Now, out of the blue—if not the Belgian Congo—comes a first baseman.

The ambitious first sacker has a name as intriguing as the story. He is Deryk McBain. He also is 22 years old, 6-1 and 180 pounds.

"I was voted the outstanding player in my country last year," McBain wrote Eddie Collins, who, ironically, is no longer with the Philadelphia Nationals because he quit as assistant general manager after a fuss with the bouncer, Roy Hamey.

"McBain wrote," explains Collins, "asking for a trial with the Phillies, that it always was his ambition. He said he hoped to come over in March. I thanked him for his interest, explaining that because of the distance, the club could not be liable for any transportation expenses."

"I thought that would be the end of the romance, but received another letter. Deryk McBain had booked his own passage and would arrive in March—at his own expense."

"We've written him for more details," says Bob Carpenter. "We want to find out something more about his playing ability. We don't want to tell him to come all that distance, and then let him be embarrassed."

Aw, let him come Bob, if only for the sake of the sports pages.

Look at all the times you've been embarrassed.

Masqat, fortress capital of Oman, displays some distinctive marks of foreign visitors, says the National Geographic Society. Sailors have made it a custom to climb the Masqat cliffs and advertise their ships by painting big white letters on the rocks, such as U.S.S. Isle of Luzon, H.M.S. Falmouth, H.M.S. Mauritius, and Jeanne d'Arc.

Bull Dogs Meet Herrin in Loop Tilt Friday Night

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs enter the South Seven conference basketball race at Davenport gym tonight and their opponent is Herrin, co-favorite with West Frankfort to win the crown.

The main tilt, which will start around 8:15, will be preceded by a freshman-sophomore preliminary.

Herrin Coach Leodio Cabutti will bring a veteran outfit to Harrisburg, a team which trounced Carterville, 94-53, last week. Five players broke into two-figure scoring as the team rolled up the biggest score yet in the five years Cabutti has been at the Herrin helm.

Herrin still has the two good guards, Richard (Itchy) Jones and Ron Gray. Jones made 18 points and Gray 12 against Carterville. Other veterans are Charley Hamilton, who made 16, Jim McPherson, who made 10, John Tidwell, who had 12, Ted Green, who had 8, and Ivan Jefferson, who had 4.

The Tigers used a 1-3-1 offense which repeatedly opened the free throw lane for good short shots. In the past, Herrin usually has used a screen-type offense.

Meanwhile Coach Gene Bland is working his local boys in an effort to improve their offense for this game. The Bull Dogs lost their opener against Carmi last Saturday night.

There will be one other South Seven game tonight—Centralia at Marion. West Frankfort goes to Murphysboro for a non-loop tilt. Saturday night five South Seven teams play non-conference games as follows: Centralia is host to Mt. Carmel; Herrin will be at Wood River; Mt. Vernon will entertain Salem and West Frankfort will be host to Johnston City. Harrisburg will be idle.

Warriors Beat Hawks, 115-98

By United Press
The Philadelphia Warriors may be much stronger four years from now when they get Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, but right now they're so strong they're running away with the National Basketball Association.

The Warriors' 115-98 rout of the St. Louis Hawks at Philadelphia Thursday night, in which they led by 10 points after the first five minutes and rambled home, was their ninth win in 12 starts and gave them a two-game lead in the Eastern Division.

In the only other game played, also at Philadelphia, Minneapolis helped boost the Warriors' division lead by beating second-place New York, 97-90.

Knicks' Coach Joe Lapchick recently protested against the Warriors being allowed to draft Chamberlain, the sensational seven-foot Kansas freshman, four years in advance. But the Warriors didn't need Wilt as they ripped off an 18-8 lead in five minutes, made it 34-17 at the quarter and 68-43 at the half. Neil Johnson led the way with 31 points and 25 rebounds and Jack George added 22 points. Bob Pettit of St. Louis, the league-leading scorer, notched 22.

Minneapolis, trailing 47-42 at halftime, overwhelmed the Knicks in the second half when Dick Schnitzler scored 12 of his 18 points. Clyde Lovellette had 21 for the Lakers and Ray Felix 22 for New York.

Looking At Sports

By TIM TURNER
The South Seven high school conference has voted to prohibit telecasting of any conference basketball games unless the televising station gives $300 for the privilege, to compensate for what the conference contends will be needed to make up loss in revenue at the gate, and this question of televising brings up arguments pro and con.

Bob Walker, who announces sports for WSIL-TV, comes up with a statement in the Southern Illinoisan which takes up the side of television in the argument.

Says Walker: "Southern Illinois' version of the Big Ten—the South Seven high school conference—recently voted to prohibit telecasting of any conference basketball game unless WSIL-TV forked over a cool $300."

Then he asks: "Is this the price tag for high school basketball reaching thousands of people who for one reason or another cannot possibly get out to a gymnasium?"

And next he charges: "This will prove in many people's minds a point that has been pressing for the last several years: High school athletics have lost their amateur status and now are based strictly on the dollar and cents value."

Friend Walker, the little round man you used to see a lot in your TV set, then contends that television hasn't been given a chance, that its effect was pre-judged by the South Seven before it had a chance. Then he says: "I cannot conceivably visualize how television will affect basketball attendance to any great degree—not as long as there's a fire in the furnace and the roof doesn't leak."

He then points out that radio, when new, went through the same trying stage and adds: "But now it seems, according to the South Seven decree, that radio has lost most of its effectiveness because radio broadcasts will be permitted, but no television. Doesn't anybody listen to the games on radio?"

"Even the NCAA," his statement continues, "permits one game per week to be televised, but even this idea obviously held no water with the South Seven because of dollars and cents."

Walker concludes: "I hope the many basketball fans in this area, many who are physically unable to get out, will mention this fact to school boards thru-out the conference and let them answer in person the real importance of high school athletics."

Televising high school sports definitely has opponents—usually those connected with the schools—and opponents—those who want to see games over television and feel that as taxpayers who support the institutions they should have the privilege, if the stations want to televise them. Many of these feel that television will produce new fans who heretofore had no interest in high school sports.

Tonight WSIL-TV is televising the game between Carrier Mills and Johnston City and one question that comes up is: Will people stay away from South Seven conference games which cannot be televised, to watch other contests which are taken into the homes? We are not pre-judging. Time will tell.

Results were inconclusive in football. Attendance was off for the Harrisburg-Murphysboro grid game at the outset of the season and some felt televising the game was responsible. It also was off for the next game televised here, Harrisburg vs. Mt. Vernon, and the same idea stuck.

But the West Frankfort game to town for a game on a beautiful night with Harrisburg tied for the lead in the battle for the South Seven title. This game was not televised and the crowd was very, very poor.

Some sources close to school athletics have expressed to me the feeling that televising the prep games may not have cut the attendance as much as television it self, regardless of what is on the air. It's a lot easier to get snug in an upholstered chair at home and watch whatever fare is presented than to get ready and go to a game, they say. Could be.

Cassady Named Back of Year

NEW YORK — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, two-time All-America halfback who has been called "the best ever" by his coach, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, today was named college football's Back of the Year by the United Press.

The 172-pound Cassady, who "runs, blocks, defends and thinks with the best," according to Hayes received the most votes in the balloting for the annual All-America team this year and picked up 155 votes out of a possible 306 cast in the back of the year balloting. In addition, he also was chosen this week to receive the Heisman and Maxwell awards as the "Outstanding College Football Player of 1955."

Cassady's nearest rival for Back of the Year honors was All-America halfback Jim Swink of Texas Christian University with 65 votes, while Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung was third with 19. SH RDVJVA ET AOETAO EEEE Earl Morrall, Michigan State quarterback, finished fourth in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters with 16. Halfback Tom McDonald of unbeaten-untied Oklahoma and quarterback George Welsh of Navy were tied for fifth with 12 votes each. Halfback Jon Arnett, All-America from Southern California, received 11 votes and halfback Ed Verb of unbeaten-untied Maryland drew six.

Other backs who received more than one vote were Bob Davenport, UCLA, five; Don Schaeffer, Notre Dame, four; Sam Brown, UCLA, and Jimmy Brown, Syracuse, three each; Bob James and Joe Childress, both of Auburn and Gerald Planutis, Michigan State, two each.

Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Fordham Lose Openers-- Warning to San Francisco

By United Press
A round basketball can take bounces just as funny as an egg-shaped football, and so the college basketball season started with Notre Dame, Wisconsin, and Fordham suffering upsets that should be a warning to national champion San Francisco.

These were the "shockers" as the Dec. 1 curtain went up on the court season Thursday night: Detroit dumping Notre Dame, 77-71; Butler nipping Wisconsin, 67-63; and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia grubbing Fordham, 89-71.

San Francisco, NCAA champ which lost only one game last year, opens its title defense tonight with what figures to be an "easy" game against Chico State. But it's obviously as dangerous as playing with a loaded gun to call games "easy" because:

Detroit, which hadn't beaten Notre Dame in 24 straight meetings, led almost all the way as forward Bill Ebben poured in 13 baskets and six free throws for 32 points. Notre Dame, trailing by 15 points, 48-33, at halftime pulled within six points with four minutes left but then couldn't get nearer. Lloyd Aubrey had 22 for the Irish.

Last Minute Play
Butler tallied five points in the last minute to beat Wisconsin on the losers' court. Bob Plump, high scorer with 18 points, made the key play with a minute left when he stole the ball for an easy lay-up that put Butler ahead in the charge, 64-61.

Fordham, ranked 13th nationally in pre-season ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches,

Junior High Cagers Suffer Two Losses at Benton

The Harrisburg Junior high school basketball teams suffered a pair of defeats at Benton Thursday night.

The seventh grade team lost 46-32 and the eighth graders were defeated 72-71.

Harrisburg trailed all the way in the preliminary game, being behind 16-5 at the quarter, 24-13 at the half and 31-19 after three quarters with the final reading 46-32.

In the eighth grade game the locals held a thin lead at the end of each of the first three quarters—14-12, 34-32 and 59-54, only to lose out in the final frame, 72-71.

Harrisburg hit for 33 field goals, connected for five free tosses in 23 attempts and were called for 32 fouls. Benton had 26 fielders, scored 20 free throws in 45 tries and had 18 fouls called. The Harrisburg team had three players to leave the game in the third period via the foul route.

In the eighth grade game Coach Louie Beltz used Hancock, Wise, Henshaw, Donovan, Stone, Goolsby, Aldridge, Kane, Feazel, Neelley and Conrad.

Next game on schedule for Harrisburg is next Tuesday, Dec. 6, when Metropolis calls at the local gym. Game times are 6:45 and 8 p. m. Admission is 15 and 35 cents.

Williams, SIU End, Named to All-Loop Team

CHICAGO — The co-champions of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference—Central Michigan and Michigan Normal—placed seven players on the all-conference team.

The team included two repeaters—center Dick Kackmeister of Central Michigan, who made it for the third successive year, and tackle Barry Basel of Michigan Normal.

Conference athletic publicity men selected the team Thursday on the recommendation of coaches and players.

The first team:
Ends: Jarv Walz, Central Michigan, and Wayne Williams, Southern Illinois.

Tackles: Basel and Ray Fisher, Eastern Illinois.

Guards: Gerald Brown, Michigan Normal, and Ray Figg, Central Michigan.

Center: Kackmeister.

Backs: Gary Anderson, Eastern Illinois; Virgil Windom, Michigan Normal; Bernie Raterink, Central Michigan, and Don Lashmet, Western Illinois.

Georgia Governor Asks Regents to Forbid Tech to Play Pitt If Negro Used

ATLANTA, Ga. — Gov. Marvin Griffin, a strong segregationist, formally asked the State Board of Regents today to forbid Georgia Tech to play Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl if Pitt uses a Negro player or if spectators at the game are not segregated.

Pittsburgh has announced that it will take a Negro player, full-back Bobby Grier, to the Sugar Bowl and that he will "travel, eat, live, practice and play" with the team.

The state board of regents, which has supervision over Tech and all other units of the university system, said earlier through its chairman, Robert O. Arnold, that it would not take up a complaint about Tech playing non-segregated Pitt, filed by the Georgia Citizens Council. Tech Coach Bobby Dodd had no comment on the demand that Tech not play the game.

The Georgia governor, a leader in the southern fight against the Supreme Court's decision outlawing racial discrimination in public schools, asked Arnold today to call a special meeting at once to consider his request.

Griffin told his news conference that such a meeting would be held soon, but that he did not know exactly when.

17 Deaths Mar Hunting Season; 5 During Week

SPRINGFIELD — At least five hunting and fishing deaths marred the Illinois late fall hunting season in the week ending today.

A United Press tally showed at least 17 persons have been killed in hunting accidents, drowned while fishing, or succumbed to heart attacks while out-of-doors in the current hunting season.

The past week's deaths included an 11-year-old Herrin boy, Paul Covington, who was killed when his 13-year-old companion's gun accidentally discharged Nov. 27.

Two Decatur area men died Nov. 26. Charles Ruble, 55, was killed on his farm near Decatur when he and his son returned from a rabbit hunting trip and stopped in a barn lot to dress the game. A gun discharged when Ruble placed it by a fence post.

Emil Kujawa, 65, was drowned on Lake Decatur the same day when a boat in which he was fishing overturned.

Drown While Hunting
Two other men drowned Nov. 25 while duck hunting. They were Thomas Thompson, 20, Marion, and David C. Hoffman, 17, Keyesport.

Thompson drowned on the Johnston City reservoir; Hoffman on the Kaskaskia river. Boat accidents were responsible for both deaths.

At least one hunting fatality was attributed to a heart attack. Vernon Thompson, 61, Table Grove, collapsed near his automobile as he was returning from a hunting trip at Havana.

Other fatalities included: Carl Le Beau, Nauvate, killed when a companion fired at a squirrel near Weldon.

Lawrence Ferris, 17, Peoria, killed near Brimfield while squirrel hunting with a friend.

Charles Eckhoff, 51, Manteno, killed when a shotgun discharged as he lifted it from a tractor after a hunt.

Robert McCulley, 13, Carmi, killed when his gun accidentally discharged near Carmi.

Killed While Climbing Fence
Lee Woodridge, 23, Jacksonville, fatally injured when climbing a fence near Rees Station after leaning his gun on the fence.

Fred Smith, 28, New Boston, drowned on route to a duck blind on the Mississippi river.

Wilbur C. Shipman, 53, Olney, fatally injured when he fell, discharging his gun, near Olney.

Anthony Geisler, 14, killed on his father's farm at Palatine on the first day of the pheasant hunting season when his shotgun accidentally fired.

Billy Halsey, 25, Clay City, killed when his gun discharged in a boat while he was duck hunting on a lake near Clay City.

Caesar Eastham Jr., Weldon, accidentally killed by another hunter near Weldon.

Thomas McGlasson, 14, Greenville, fatally injured while climbing a fence near his home after returning from a dove hunting trip.

Witnesses Tell Of Threats by Former Policeman

MARION, Ill. — Three state witnesses said today they heard a former Carterville policeman threaten the life of a paroled convict he is accused of killing.

William Priddy, 63, is on trial in Williamson County Circuit Court for the murder of Edmon Smith, 39, Carterville, last May 21. Smith was on parole from a manslaughter conviction for the death of Isaac Gladden in 1953.

Jesse Gladden, brother of the man Smith killed, testified Priddy urged him to avenge his brother's death. Gladden said that when he told Priddy he didn't believe in killing, Priddy said "It'll save me the trouble. The town's not big enough for both of us."

Circuit Judge C. E. Wright overruled the objection of defense attorney Fletcher Lewis that the statement Gladden attributed to Priddy was too remote from the date of Smith's slaying.

Paul Yates, Carterville, testified of another alleged threat Priddy made against Smith in October, 1954, when Smith was seeking parole. Yates quoted Priddy as saying he hoped Smith would not be paroled to Carterville or Priddy would be "forced to kill him."

Cecil Allen, Carterville, said he heard Priddy say, in December, 1954, "Me and Smith can't live in this town together." Allen also said Priddy said he would shoot Smith if he ever crossed his path.

The testimony of today's witnesses was part of the circumstantial evidence that is the basis of the state's case. Police officers have not been able to find any witnesses to Smith's murder.

Expensive Eggs Hatched from Frogs at SIU to Study Mysteries of Cell Growth

CARBONDALE, Ill. — The most expensive eggs in Southern Illinois are being hatched a long way from the farm—in a physiology laboratory at Southern Illinois university.

They'll never find their way to a blue plate breakfast special, either. The eggs are being coaxed from a collection of very special female frogs by Dr. Frank Finamore, of the SIU Physiology department.

What makes the frogs and their amphibian caviar so valuable isotope with which the animals have been loaded for a research project. Finamore calls a "study of nucleic acid metabolism in the frog embryo." More simply, it's a study into the mysteries of cell growth.

Finamore uses the isotope, shipped in lead lined containers from Oak Ridge, Tenn., as a tracer material. He injects it into the female frogs, fertilizes the radioactive eggs, then checks the growth activity of cells with an elaborate "scaler," a Geiger tube attached to an electronic apparatus which registers the counts of radioactivity.

Finamore has been granted almost $3,400 in graduate research and departmental funds for the project and has petitioned the government for $8,700 more, mostly to hire graduate assistants for the two year study. He also hopes to convince the American Cancer Society's commission on growth that his work is important enough for $2,600 of their funds.

Most of the SIU grant has been used to buy the scaler and a spectrophotometer, a mechanism used to test the purity of the trace materials.

Obtaining the radio isotope involved approval and clearance from the Atomic Energy Commission, which controls the release of all radioactive material used for scientific work in the U. S. It granted Finamore permission to order 50 millicuries of P 32 at the rate of two millicuries per month.

Although P 32 has a "half life" of 14 days (it loses half of its radioactivity in that time), certain protective measures will have to be taken.

The "hot" carcasses will be well wrapped and dry frozen for several months before they are discarded. Finamore, who teaches physiology

About Oysters

Oysters reproduce exclusively by eggs. At birth, the oyster is known as a larva and, in this stage, it swims about freely for a few days, then sinks, attaches itself to something, and begins the process of growing up. When full-grown, the oyster has no power to move.
